TareDesk Demo

Verbal SMS consent process

Operator: Conor Doyle
Support: conor@merrimackdata.com
Disclosure version: October 28, 2026

Who opts in

Participants requesting a TareDesk software demonstration consent to demonstration coordination, video invitations, demonstration report links and related two-way conversation. Conor obtains permission during a phone call or demonstration intake, before the first text.

Exact script read to the participant

> May I text this number about your requested TareDesk software demonstration, including the video invitation, demonstration report and related conversation? Message frequency varies. Message and data rates may apply. Reply STOP to opt out or HELP for help. Texting is optional and is not a condition of purchase; we can use email or shared links instead. The SMS terms and privacy policy are available on the TareDesk website. Is that okay?

How the answer is recorded

Confirm the intended mobile number. Record consent only after an affirmative answer. The consent record identifies the mobile number, date and time, verbal collection method, disclosure version and operator. A booking or phone number by itself does not enroll anyone. If consent is declined or absent, use email or shared links.

Opt out and resubscribe

STOP suppresses further program messages, apart from the opt-out confirmation. Toll-free resubscription uses START or UNSTOP. HELP provides support and does not resubscribe a recipient. Consent and provider suppression controls must both permit sending.

Public program and policies

Program and verbal script: https://www.taredesk.com/sms

SMS terms: https://www.taredesk.com/sms/terms

Privacy policy: https://www.taredesk.com/sms/privacy

This document explains the consent workflow. It contains no recipient information and is not evidence of consent from a particular person.